

WE NOMINATE

John Vernon Butler, for the past 11 years rector of Princeton's 125-year old Trinity Episcopal Church, who "almost out of the blue" has been named executive head of one of the largest churches in the world. In the months just ahead the Massachusetts-born Butler, now 53 years old, will be installed as Dean of the Cathedral Church of St. John The Divine, New York City, a post traditionally reserved for able Anglican churchmen capable of interpreting the church's role in a world beset by fears and doubts and "even suspicious of leadership by example."

Last week's announcement of Butler's appointment and confirmation by the Cathedral Trustees (which was abominably handled from the point of view of the local press), marked the end of Phase 1 in the continuing development of Princeton parishes. Several years ago, under the stimulus of Butler's leadership, Trinity of Princeton became the first long-established Princeton church to blueprint plans for drawing Township and Borough even closer together by creating facilities for worship in the Township—several miles from "Mother Church" in the heart of the Borough.

In much the same way that Butler, a past president of the Princeton Pastors' Association, pressed for the establishment of the Trinity-sustained All Saints' Chapel in the Snowden Lane-Herrontown Road Area, he has invariably called a spade a spade. Almost 11 years ago to the week, shortly after he had been called to Princeton, he lashed out at "Problem Parents," commenting about the sort of parents who "send children to Church but are themselves absent, who 'farm out' their children on Church Schools and then do not back them up even to insistence upon regular attendance."

A member of the Amherst Class of 1927, and a graduate of New York City's General Theological Seminary, which he has long served as trustee, Butler since his ordination in 1930-31 has insisted that the local parish—as a living, inspiring part of the community—is made up of individuals and can do nothing effective except as those individuals work, and work together, for the common good. This point of view helps explain why Trinity in the past decade has grown to the point it currently numbers nearly 1,900 communicants, the largest church in the Episcopal Diocese of New Jersey.

Butler, a member of the Protestant Episcopal National Council from 1952 until 1958 and the Episcopal Church's representative on the General Board of the National Council of Churches, held his first assignments in Springfield, Mass., and New York City and subsequently moved on to St. Martin's, Providence, R.I. in 1942. It was in Providence that he guided the fastest-growing Episcopal church in New England, held five diocesan posts, participated in civic affairs and first attracted the attention that was to catapult him (via Princeton) from the "clinging mists" of Narragansett Bay to Morningside Heights.

For his awareness of the church's role in the turbulent present; for his willingness to accept the added, heavy responsibilities of challenging new posts; for his contributions to this community's continuing evolution; he is Town Topics' nominee for CHARITY BEGINS. . .

At Home. A dozen years ago,
TOWN TOPICS asked Princeton-ians to make Christmas brighter for a family in the community which good fortune had passed by.
The appeal was made with the hope of bringing holiday happiness to a deserving father and mother and their 12 children—living together in an unheated six-room house. Had no notice been taken of the family's plight, the ten children under 16 would have had virtually no share in the pleasures of Christmas, no realization that it is a day much different from the others in every year.

Princeton did respond—so generously that not only was Christmas joyously marked by gifts, an ample dinner and urgently-needed warm clothing but a fund was established that provided some of the necessities of life for the family for the balance of the year.

Forge. (See "Personalities," on page 2.)

Community giving directly to the deserving needy of Princeton had been successfully established.

In the years that followed, succeeding appeals brought increased participation as the town grew and the desire to participate in this direct form of charity became more and more widespread.
At first, the fund was raised on behalf of family units, with benefits ranging from payment of medical, rent, fuel and food bills to actual ability on the part of the recipients to continue living under one roof. A young girl, raised by her grandmother after her mother's death and now happily married, is among the early benefactors of Princeton's generosity, as are three boys grown to manhood and their widowed mother.

The current issue of TOWN
TOPICS, running to 48 pages, is eight pages larger than the corresponding issue a year ago. The current circulation of 12,177 is well over twice that reported by any other Princeton newspaper.

Princeton's support of the fund was greater each year, and at the suggestion of the Family Service Agency, under whose guidance all appeals are made, the money now raised has for some time been devoted to the welfare of the community's children. Agency officials and others closely associated with the numerous programs benefitting the deserving boys and girls agree that the long-range value of the "helping hand" thus extended is extreme.

Busy and fundamentally content as they are with the pleasant routine of daily life, the vast majority of Princetonians have no knowledge of the hardship and the heartache that exists in other homes in the midst of their community. In some, parents work almost double the normal 38-hour week to make ends meet; in others, an abusive, shiftless father makes life miserable for a conscientious, struggling mother and the children she seeks to give an average start in life.

Each Christmas, the fund contributed by this community makes a happy difference in the lives of as many as 40 to 50 children. Presents are made possible where virtually none would otherwise have been; Christmas dinner is a delightful dream come true; warm clothing is a constant reminder of what sub-freezing temperatures and bitter wind would mean without it.

Better than that, of course, is the fact that the Christmas Fund lasts the year round. It means much for undernourished youngsters every day in the year, medical care that would not otherwise be available; and in many cases, two wonderful weeks at the Princeton Summer Camp in Blairtown. Even a brief escape from the problems that exist year-round in a none-too-happy home can mean limitless good to a restless youngster.

The first appeal was made in Town Topics in 1947, Princetonians—and numerous residents of neighboring communities—have contributed more than $28,000 in the firm belief that "charity begins at home." Every cent they give has aided the beneficiaries—in contrast to many a fund, not a single cent goes toward administrative expenses. These are met in full by TOWN TOPICS.

Next week, the 1959 Christmas appeal will be published, illustrated in graphic fashion that no matter what the degree of community and national prosperity, there is inevitably bitter want in some Princeton homes. Once again, the time for helping a neighbor in need is at hand.

and he was born in; his grandfather served with George Washington at Valley Forge and his grandmother walked to school between rows of Red Bank. ROUND-UP

Although snow has been recorded in the past on virtually every day in November, the month just closed brought only a tenth of an inch once—in the early hours of Sunday morning. A rainfall topped five inches, a good third above normal. . . . strong winds last weekend blew in glass panes in the marquee and doors of the Garden Theatre.

A thief specializing in pocket-snatching from his own back ways and front rooms is still at work in the community. . . . both borough and township police have reported thefts of this nature. . . . it is advisable to lock front doors when the house is unoccupied and not to leave pocketbooks or other easily-removed valuables within reaching distance of anyone interested in making a quick entrance and exit. . . . a burglar in nearby Hamilton Township covered considerable ground Monday afternoon, entering no less than 11 homes in a space of three hours and making off with more than $750 in cash.

The deadline for filing petitions for seats on Boards of Education is December 30. . . . three terms for three years each will be open in both the Borough and Township. . . . for a report on a special election seeking approval of a million-dollar-plus bond issue in Lawrence Township on Tuesday, see page 4.

The Princeton Township Engineer's office reports that revised tax maps for 1959 are available there on request. . . . and the Princeton Junior Chamber of Commerce is still interested in volunteer Santa Clauses who will answer letters written by children at the N.J. Neuro-Psychiatric Institute in Skillman. . . . details may be obtained by calling WA 4-5700. . . . and the University Cleaners is asking for used toys, games, dolls, etc. for distribution to deserving children in the Princeton area. . . . all such contributions may be left at any of its three locations: 30 Moore, 76 Nassau or the Shopping Center.

Commuters to New York who are ever-hopeful that the income tax imposed on them by that State will be lightened enjoyed the light touch provided this week by one of their number. . . . Erik Roos of Westfield wrote to Gov. Meyner asking him to take steps to have New Jersey returned to its 18th century status as a British colony. . . . he thinks maybe the Boston tea party taught he English a lesson and that—contrary to New York—they would no longer attempt "taxation without representation". . . . a spokesman for the British Consulate in New York was cool to the plan, however, pointing out that England today "is getting rid of its colonies because they're more trouble than they're worth."

The white rabbit with floppy black ears, reported missing a couple of weeks ago, came home but now has "gone out on the town again," his owner reports in this week's classified ad section. . . . other bits of humor and the invariably fascinating collection of good buys are detailed on pages 35 to 47.

ZONING CHANGED

To Allow More Research. The areas of Princeton Township zoned for research will be expanded more than ten-fold as the result of an ordinance introduced at a special meeting of Township Committee on Friday afternoon. Public hearings on the new measure will be held on Thursday, December 17, at 8:30 p.m.

The ordinance also makes certain minor zoning changes in other parts of the municipality. The chief area affected by the change is along Mt. Lucas Road and east of the road. According to the new zoning map, the research area will now parallel Mt. Lucas, roughly along the back line of lots to Poor Farm Road where it will follow Mt. Lucas to the Montgomery Township line.

Its southern boundary will be the present Research Park. It will go east to the property owned by Trinity Church and to Herrontown Woods, along the west line of the property owned by Mrs. Claire Levine to Herrontown Road, then straight east to the Township line.

According to the terms of an ordinance passed earlier in the fall, offices of a research nature are now permitted in any areas zoned for research in the Township.

The newly-introduced ordinance also changes the Braeburn area lots from 1½ acre to ¼ acre requirements and expands the service areas on Route 206 and Alexander Street. The service and supply area on Route 206 will now go east to Mt. Lucas Road following the property line of Dr. Cornelia Jaynes. On Alexander Street, the line has been moved 320 feet west of Alexander from south of the Princeton Inn.

HEARING WAIVED

In Campus Auto Death. A 19-year-old Princeton University junior whose car struck and killed a classmate early on November 21, on a charge of death by auto waived preliminary hearing in Borough Court Monday night. The youth, Richard N. Rand Jr. of Darien, Conn., pleaded not guilty to the charge and is free in $2,000 bail pending action by the grand jury in Trenton.

Victim of the accident on Washington Road near Prospect Avenue was Hugh M. Dodd, 23, a veteran who had originally entered Princeton with the Class of 1958. The University has declined to state whether Rand was driven.

SEWAGE THE PROBLEM
Township Board of Health Meets. Raw sewage which has been polluting a stream that flows through Springdale Golf Course came to the attention of the Township at its monthly meeting last Wednesday. The sewage originated in the Princeton Inn. Instead of following its prescribed course into the main sewer lines, it had been diverted by a clogged line into the Springdale brook. Health officers and the Inn staff found on investigation that grease from the hotel's meat department had clogged the sewer line and caused the raw sewage to flow into the brook. The Inn is now repairing its lines.

The Board of Health also heard a complaint on pollution of the stream that flows around the Winant Road, Russell Road area. Property owners in the vicinity were told to clear it up by April 1. Arthur Ocheltree was denied an executive hearing before the Board on the sewer situation in his Ridgewood Road lots. Members of the Board told Mr. Ocheltree that the area in question has a serious sewer problem and that Mr. Ocheltree should offer a plan from expert consultants if they were required and present it to the board.

"Rats at the dump are a cause of concern to both Borough and Township health officers and Borough Engineer Arthur Brokaw sent to the Board of Health a letter informing its members that an exterminator had been called in because of the gravity of the rat situation. Mr. Brokaw pointed out that more men are needed to man the dump. The problem of additional personnel will be studied."

Mrs. Marcella Farley, acting health officer, spoke on the need for a rooming house code in Princeton Township. She said that John W. Hurley, owner of the properties at 14, 14½ and 15½ Leigh Avenue had notified all residents of those buildings to vacate by January 1. Mr. Hurley has had problems in the wiring, plumbing and construction work in his buildings. Mrs. Farley also reported several complaints from tenants in various rooming houses that landlords had failed to provide sufficient heat.

UCF RETURNS SOUGHT
Hope To Reach $212,000 Goal. Campaign division chairmen of the 1959 Princeton United Community Fund drive have been asked by John M. Reeder, campaign chairman, to turn in all outstanding returns this week, in the hope that the goal of $212,000 will have been reached before the meeting of fund trustees next Wednesday.

"The audited reports to date, compared to the same gift sources last year, show excellent increases and more contributors," Mr. Reeder said. "Campaign reporting, unfortunately, is unduly delayed because of the failure of many divisions to turn in any of their returns. I urge all business firms and individuals responsible to get their reports in by Friday."

It is estimated that this week, when all current returns are audited, the total may reach $175,000. Prompt reports of outstanding returns may bring in the additional $37,000 needed to meet the $212,000 goal.

pressive returns to date in the Research Division of the cannulized, Mr. Reeder said. He especially cited Food Machinery and Chemical Corp., Education Testing Service and Opinion Research Corporation.

F&M & C Gilt Up 65 Percent. The Food Machinery and Chemical Corp. campaign, under the direction of W. J. Paracette, has given a total contribution from company and employees of $1,946, an increase of 65 percent over last year. Of this, $1,146 came from employees, an increase of 70 percent, and $800 from the company, an increase of 60 percent.

The campaign at Educational Testing Service, conducted by Dr. Benjamin Shimberg, resulted in a total of $3,534, an increase of 53 percent over last year. This included $3,284 from employees and $250 from the company.

Opinion Research has shown an increase in giving for four years in succession, with 100 percent of the employees giving each year. This year's total of $2,088 was $174 more than last year. An employee campaign conducted for the first time this year at Management Planning brought in $129.50, which, with a $100 gift from the company, made a total of $229.50.

In the Neighborhood Division, West Windsor Township has turned in $764, an increase of $352. Mrs. Robert H. Johnson was chairman.

Give By Mail. An appeal to all individuals and business firms who were missed in the general solicitation to mail their donations was issued this week by Ralph Mason, president of the UHF. Mail donations should be sent to Princeton United Community Fund, Box 201, Princeton.

SCHOOL VOTE TUESDAY

In Lawrence Township, Voters in Lawrence Township will go to the polls on Tuesday to decide whether to approve a $1,188,000 program to expand the classroom facilities of the community's school system by 30 percent.

Passage of the referendum, which has been strongly urged by the Board of Education, would bring about:

- Purchase of a site and construction of a 14-classroom elementary school on the Ribsam tract on Princeton Pike.
- Addition of six classrooms to the existing Slackwood School. Pins also call for construction of a kitchen and alteration of the gym into an all-purpose room in this building.
- Addition of 10 instruction rooms at the junior high school, including rooms for shop, home economics, art and music and enlargement of the cafeteria.
- Purchase of 18 acres adjacent to the junior high school as a site for a future senior high school. At present, Lawrence Township youngsters attend high schools in Princeton and Trenton.

Situation "Critical." A booklet mailed to Township voters by the school board says "the classroom situation in Lawrence Township schools is now critical. It is only by utilizing every bit of available space — both standard and sub-standard; allowing classes to exceed the normal capacity of 30; transporting pupils from School Number Four to Lawrenceville; transferring pupils from School Number Four and Edridge Park to Slackwood; and placing four grades in two rooms; that we are able to accommodate our present enrollment."

Enrollment in Lawrence Township schools (kindergarten to ninth grade) has increased from 1,600 to 1,770 since 1948, and the Board of Education estimates that the rapidly growing community will be educating 2,963 students by 1968.

If the referendum is passed, the cost of the expansion program will be amortized over a 20-year period. The amount to be raised from additional taxes will start at an estimated $96,820 in 1962 and will diminish annually as the principal is repaid.

On the basis of current assessed valuation of property, the program will cost each taxpayer 47 cents per $100 of assessed valuation in 1962, and the school board estimates that this additional

News Of The THEATRES

A VISIT TO IRELAND

By Plays with O'Casey, playwright Sean O'Casey, nearing 80, writes that "our world has grandeur and life has hope," but in the present theatre "there never seems to be room for a laugh or for any rough or gentle belief in the goodness of man". O'Casey's own plays have room for all. Two years ago, part of his autobiography, "Swift Glances: Back at Things That Made Me," were adapted for the theatre, and seen briefly in New York. The author himself had given readings from some of the five-act work.

"I Knock at the Door", the story of his earliest years appears this weekend and next at The Playmill presented by a large cast as "a characterized" reading.

It has sweetness, tenderness, scenes that are bitterly touching, that contain ironic humor, the bread and butter of life. It has songs as natural as speech to the people that sing them.

There are no set scenes, no obvious costuming to stand between the audience and O'Casey's "admiration for the wonder of man's ways", only the interpretation of director and actor. Some of this interpretation at The Playmill is superb. Tirzah Berthoff and Montgomery Davis play the mother and son, two against the world, in the stark spotlights that leave only voices and faces to convey meaning. These are both beautiful performances of Johnny less-good-than-Machopos, and the wiser than he can conceive.

This is the third leg on Director John Becker's complete tour of the British Isles. Last year, he brought Dylan Thomas and Wales to the Playmill; before that, the followers of Mary Stuart moved with style through Maxwell Anderson's Scotland on the Players' stage. This season across the Irish Sea with O'Casey, Mr. Becker has attempted the most difficult of all. One wonders if this is really theatrical material. If it needs voices, it needs expert voices with great understanding.

The members of the cast who undertake the task bring back well-known Community Players' faces: Frances Keene as the old sister, skittish but sometimes almost losing the young girl waiting for her love; Reed Armstrong, dependable as always, if repetitious, in two or more roles; Jane and Foster Anderson in a variety of parts.

Among the newer-comers are John Sales and Katherine Post, both from "The Cavedwellers," rather this season, and Stanley

Triangle Revue to Open

The Princeton University Triangle Club's 1959 production, "Breakfast in Bedlam," a 22-sketch revue, will open its annual tour at McCarter Theatre with performances Thursday, Friday and Saturday next week. Shows are at 8:30, with a Saturday matinee at 2:30.

The show, the club's 68th in a series that dates back to 1893, was written chiefly by the club's president, J. Vinton Lawrence '60, with most of the music by Clerk Gesner '60, the vice-president. The touring company will include a cast of 20, a 14-piece orchestra conducted by Mr. Gesner and a 12-member stage crew.

Seventeen original songs will be featured in the production. Tickets for all performances are available at the University Store and at the McCarter box office.

Garber as the Narrator, who must, himself, see in order to make his listeners see the city of Dublin, the inside and out of houses and streets and the Hospital hall and the team. Laurinda Good is newly "moved up" from the Junior Players, and Charles Lord is a welcome Theatre Innams "loan".

Constance Loux is assistant to the director. The actual unsaviness of the setting is due to Braxton Ellerbe. Byron Keene designed the lighting.

"I Knock at the Door" was published in 1939 as narrative. For nearly 20 years did it take to the stage. It may be that a lone reader by the fire will still create a truer picture of the near-blind boy in the Dublin slums than a staid actor actors. Nevertheless, it is well worth finding out.

COMEDY SCHEDULED

By Miss Fines Club. The Dramatic Club of Miss Fines' School will present "You Gotta Take It With You," the comedy by George S. Kaufman and Moss Hart, on Friday and Saturday evenings at 8:30. Monro Wade is director.

Leading roles will be taken by Elise Brum, Nancy Davis, Catherine Otis, Katherine Adams, Cynthia Weinrich, Susan Valentine and George Boalos, a University senior. Both performances will be given in the school auditorium and tickets will be available at the door.

Committee chairmen for the play are Pauline Mills and Martha Sichel, scenery; Wanda Mills and Penny Hart, properties; Sandra Sidford and Trika Smith, lights; Julia Fulper and Linda Scassera, costumes; Polly Busselle, tickets; Joan Weston, programs; Jane Rose, posters, and Joan Nadler, stage manager.

IGLESIAS TO APPEAR

In Celebrity Series. The Celebrity Series will open its spring schedule at McCarter Theatre with a performance by the Roberto Iglesias Ballet Espagnol on February 1. The troupe appeared this fall to rave reviews in Sol Huro's International Dance Festival at the Winter Garden Theatre.

Also appearing in the spring series will be the Weavers, folk singers, making their first Princeton appearance on February 27; the Vienna Boys Choir, making an exclusive New Jersey appearance on April 1, and the Modern Jazz Quartet and Theodore Bikel, folk.

FAMILY PARTY: Sandra Dee and newcomer Troy Donahue while sweet nothings in the living room while their parents, who have some involved romantic entanglements of their own, look on in "A Summer Place," at the Playhouse through Tuesday. Left to right in the staircase peanut gallery are Constance Ford, Richard Egan, Dorothy McGuire and Arthur Kennedy.

singer and actor, on dates to be announced. Mr. Bikel, who was featured as the sheriff in "The Defiant Ones," is currently performing in the Mary Martin musical, "Sound of Music."

THE PLAYHOUSE

A Summer Place, December 2-5) features Richard Egan, Dorothy McGuire, Sandra Dee, Arthur Kennedy and Constance Ford in a brutally frank saga of extramarital pre-marital love that poses a lot of pertinent moral questions but fails to come up with very satisfactory answers. In Technicolor, the film is an adaptation of the best-seller of the same name by Sloan ("The Man in the Gray Flannel Suit") Wilson.

Miss McGuire and Egan were lovers in their youth when he was a lifeguard at the exclusive resort where her wealthy family spent the summers. They married other people and had one child each; conveniently, one girl (Sandra Dee) and one boy (Troy Donahue). Now the situations are reversed. Egan is wealthy and he brings his family to the Inn operated by Miss McGuire and spouse, who are in somewhat straitened circumstances. In a word, Miss Dee's dad and Donahue's mom realize they were meant for each other all along, have an affair, get divorced and marry each other. Meanwhile, the youngsters themselves fall in love and marry after it is discovered that Miss Dee is going to have a baby. Performances are generally good, despite the shallowness of the screenplay.

The Wreck of the Mary Deare (December 9-15), in CinemaScope and color, is an entertaining combination of sea story and murder mystery which is considerably aided by a commanding and complex performance by the ever-improving Gary Cooper, who hardy says "Yup" at all in this one. Less impressive is his co-star, Charlton Heston, who is nonetheless highly competent. The fine supporting cast, mostly British, includes Michael Redgrave, Cecil Parker, Virginia McKenna and Emlyn Williams, who entranced audiences at McCarter last year.

The plot, which seems a bit on the complicated side from time to time, open spectacularly with a collision at sea between the Sea Witch, a sailing ship of which Heston is co-owner, and the Mary Deare, a freighter which at first seems to have been deserted by her captain and crew. Boarding the Mary Deare, Heston finds a lone man, the pugnacious, bloody Cooper, who claims to be the captain and tells of the crew's alleged mutiny against him. While the camera is poking around the craft, we are treated to a view of a corpse in the coal bin; this intelligent, however, is kept from Heston, who nonetheless harbors some doubts concerning the validity of Cooper's story.

It soon becomes apparent that Cooper is bent on wrecking the Mary Deare. Since he failed to accomplish this purpose in the collision, he purposely runs her into the rocks, but, as the fates and scriptwriters would have it, the ship miraculously settles in one piece. An inquiry is begun into the facts of the crew's disappearance, and one of the star witnesses is Miss McKenna, daughter of the real captain, whose feeling toward Cooper are plainly ambivalent. Events are kept moving at an engrossing pace by Michael Anderson's intelligent direction. Location scenes were filmed in London, Southampton and the English Channel.

THE GARDEN

Sign of the Gladiator (December 2-5) is another of those boy-did-they-have-a-lot-of-people-running-around-in-ancient-Rome spectacle films, made notable chiefly by the presence of Anita Ekberg, who is infinitely more attractive than Victor Mature, who usually stars in these things. Miss Ekberg plays Zenobia, voluptuous Queen of Egypt, whose barbaric leadership of her Syrian army almost overthrows Rome during the reign of Aurelian.

Now, we hate to appear cynical or skeptical, but Miss Ekberg looks about as much like a barbaric military leader as does Wally Cox. She unquestionably looks good, but not warlike. Still, the rides through the interminable, continual crowded, noisy and gory battles as if she were enjoying herself. There's less ambiguity about her armored boyfriend, George Marshall: he's definitely enjoying himself. The picture, in color, was made in Europe and the sound track is dubbed. The cast of thousands mills competently.

IT'S NEW To Us

COME OVER AND PLAY
Toys to Buy—Young and Old.
We begin with toys that are neither educational, instructive
nor elevating, and in this category
our favorite is a red robot dog that have at Pastimes, which is a big toy store across the Delaware River in Washington's Crossing (first left after you cross the bridge.)

This $1 dog, five inches long,
has square ears that flap slowly, flat eyes that roll and jaws that open and shut when you give him a push. (Remember, grandmother, you can't buy everything!
We've got a long way to go.)

Urken's, here in town, has a splendid pair of polyethylene plastic horns ("Horn Head") with which you can be a Viking, a goat, rhino, space-man, walrus, or elephant, depending on where you put the horns. Clayton's has a man with a balloon fastened to his mouth. Pump him up and he inflates the balloon.

The Wham-O-Bird for $1.98 at Thorne Pharmacy and Urken's, is made of Mylar plastic with aluminum spars. He flies like a bird from a wound-up rubber band, zooming around trees, going in circles, and so on. He is said to have cost $50,000 and ten years' worth of time to develop.

Hardly took any time at all to develop the Duck-pond at Stuff's Nonsense. Wind it up and the ducks scoot around the pond in a may frenzy while you try to catch them with a magnet.

Stuff has new Advent calendars
this year, by the way. They come from Denmark and they are done in primary colors that show off bustling little toy figures on a shopping spree, gnomes busily making bustling little toy figures,
a stand-up Christmas tree a foot high and so on.

House Play. Little girls are served this year by that giant doll that wears size three dresses and helps you watch TV. She is Patti Playpal, boxed and ready at Allen's.

Pastimes has the McCalls, 36 inches tall for $17.69. Boy and girl dolls in this well-planned family. A two-foot doll at $13.98, wears a camel's hair coat, no less.
Madame Alexander is a big favorite in this shop and this year's sexle dolls wear things like satin evening coats.

Thorne's likes baby dolls and you may adopt Baby Susan (she drinks and wets) for $2.98. She's 10 inches tall, all vinyl. "Sniffles"
is a doll who probably has hay fever. In any case she weeps on order and comes with the usual baby-doll accoutrements. Another gift package is the baby doll scale with accessories—including the baby. Costs $1.

Good old Ettenbea sends to Stuff a Ginny-size collection with shut-eyes, realistic hair and pretty girlish faces. There's Alice with golden hair. Patricia with raven hair and Riding Hood whose hair is hidden by the red hood. Sturdy little clothes with these dolls. Some of the dolls are larger than Ginny, by the way.

Teacher's pet at Stuff is the 16-inch Italian doll, fat as can be, with a very knowing face.

Wood and Paint

Playkool has come up with some of the most imaginative nursery toys in some years and we suggest that you explore Allen's here in town, and Pastimes in Washington Crossing. If you have a nursery-school roster to buy presents for.

We liked "Lil Hotrod" in bright, primary colors with small pistons which go chuging up and down. A Kidly Cat big enough to ride, has Phillips screws and a driver to match so that you can take the thing apart to investigate its differential.

A circus train has a giraffe,
a seal with a ball on its nose,
a penguin and other important passengers who turn imperi-tively from side to side when the stubby engine is pulled across the floor.

Playceage opens like a suitcase—its white wood—to reveal inside a pegboard with pegs washable crayons, a pull-off slate and plenty of room to store other things like second-hand lollipops. There is also a school bus with passengers, and a mailbox which opens its painted face when you pull up the red flag.

They must mature early in Italy.
She's $20 in a canopied cradle.

Allen's has the equipment for these babies: maple bunk beds for big or little dolls, baby carriages in Volkswagen or Mercedes style and husky maple tables and chairs to hold both mother and doll family. Stuff has,
for the special tea party, real china dishes for six, exquisitely decorated with what might be real gold paint.

House Play. Rapid-fire rocket guns make short shrift of six moving targets in the Electronic Fighter Jet at Urken's. This thing has radar controls and it "simulates flight and combat," although most boys we know can simulate combat without even being primed.

For safety's sake, wear a Steve Canyon crash jet helmet which has a plastic nose cone (your nose, not a rocket's) that makes the filtered voice sound just like Steve's. A wide green visor covers the forehead and eyes.
Enough to scare any mother half to death. $2.98.

Ideal's $12.95 Count-Down is battery operated, push-button manned. It has an orbit tracker, a sun probe and a moon ship and probably works better than most devices at Cape Canaveral.
So does the H-2-O Two-Stage Missile with its cap-firing warhead powered by water pressure. It's about 30 inches high. Thorne's has Remco's electronic falcon,
the plane that flies by itself.

For earthlings, there is an army of International Harvester tractors and trucks at Van Zandt's in Blavensburg. Most of these are heavy plastic, made to scale and duplicating the big ones exactly. That 10-inch Diesel tractor is something to reckon with.
Allen's has a fire truck for $9.98 with a long extension ladder, and a heavy-duty steam shovel for heavy duty six-year-olds. Stuff rescues the space age for the Napoleonic era and presents the Battle of Waterloo in tin-soldier size, the troops all made in England on the playing-fields of Eton.

At Thorne's, you'll find the minute cars of the Matchbox series done as "Cars of Yesterday," including old-fashioned trucks, double-decker buses and old racers.

Gilbert has put out some new science sets this year, and we found at Pastimes a microscope and lab, set in metal box for $7.98, complete with shrimp eggs to hatch and a 500-power microscope. There is also a physics set with which you can experiment with solar heat, fluid dynamics, air and water pressure and elementary plumbing—$11.98. A Geiger counter kit, not by Gilbert, is guaranteed to find daddy's misplaced luminous dial watch.

Busy Little Hands. Boys—or girls, for that matter—who like to make things will like the Tic-Toy plastic clock, eight inches across, with brightly colored plastic wheels and gears. It has 40 pieces to assemble and it keeps time once you've got it together. At Thorne's and Lickor's, the colored parts are all visible in motion when the clock is running, and the general effect is quite pleasing.

Stuff has $1 plastic birds, life size, which you put together and then paint. There's a robin, scarlet tanager, gold-finch, parakeet filmed in 1945, is the life story of George Gershwin and includes a sampling of that composer's excellent songs. Stars are Robert Alda, Alexis Smith and Jean Leslie. Al Johnson, Oscar Levant, Paul Whitman and Hazel Scott also appear.

The Virtuous Bigamist (December 2-10) stars Fernandel, which is something of a recommendation in its own right. The brilliant French comic, who has brightened the Garden screen in a seemingly unending stream of worthwhile if not lastingly significant pictures, has been becoming more and more serious in recent efforts, and this is too bad. For while he is a surprisingly good comedian, Fernandel is nothing more than an excellent character actor.

"The Virtuous Bigamist" is similar in his other films of this genre. Fernandel is a humble, goodhearted little man who can never quite cope with the complexities of the world but is none-the-less eager to help other little men (and women) out of their little difficulties. The title is taken from the fact that he is briefly married to a woman whose child otherwise would have been born illegitimate. Fernandel is a traveling salesman and most of his anecdotal, sometimes poignant adventures occur during a bus trip.

Others in the cast are Giulio Rubini, Alberto Cordi and Fozzi Giachetti. Jacques Bar produced and Mario Soldati directed from a screenplay by Aldo de Benedetti, Cesar Zavattini and Piero Tellini, who were responsible for "Four Steps in the Clouds" about 10 years ago. The film is in French with English titles.

Fold and Snip

A magnificent book, "Creating with Paper," has come to the shelves of Stuff. The nonsense and we suggest it as a gift for the most creative fingers in the family. A thick volume on paper folding, it transcends the usual tricorne hat and shows what Picasso and Matisse have done with paper and how you, too, can be an artist with fold end scissors.

The photographs are superb and the directions clear. The book shows how to make a flying witch, a ballet dancer, roosters with detailed feathers, full costumes with elaborate or simple masks, three-dimensional stars and pure abstractions. The volume, $6.50, is a more exuberant Western version of Japanese volumes on Origami, which Stuff also has at $3.95, or $1 each for two pamphlets.

and so on, each in the position most characteristic of the bird.

The model fan has a wide choice this year from Mall Camera, the Radio and Hobby Center on Witherspoon and Nassau Paint. Mall's 45 calibre pistol shoots harmless pellets, although why you should shoot them if they are harmless, we couldn't say. There is also a Luger to assemble.

The Polaris-launching submarine, "George Washington" comes in two sizes and is just as intricate as its prototype. The "Cutty Sark" would grace any den, the Hot Rod '32 Ford Deuce Roadster is mifer on model bench than on the road, and the Arrowbee Hi-Missile Kit is a potential museum piece.

The Hobby Center has the Knights, Crusaders and Vikings designed by the owner of the shop.

At this Witherspoon Street shop, you'll find also a full collection of chemical beakers, slides, pestles and boiling flasks for the Frankenstein in your family. There are also 40 different chemicals for home laboratories.

Nassau Paint contributes to the hobby devotee a collection of low-relief figures in black plastic to paint according to number. There is a cowboy, an Indian, St. Francis and the birds and floral designs.

For the serious painters, the shop has Grumbacher oil sets from $4.50 to $26. The big ones come in fine wooden boxes, finished with a dozen tubes, cups, oil, charcoal, palette and even inspiration.

Postal sets start at $1.50, but you'll want the $2.75 one with 90 colors; water-colors are $2.25 to $10 a set.

FACULTY SALARIES RAISED

By Princeton University. The minimum salaries for associate professors, assistant professors and instructors at Princeton University will be increased $500 for the academic year 1969-70. It has been announced by President Robert Goheen. The minimum for full professors was raised $1,000 effective this year.

With the new increase, salary scales of the Princeton faculty will be as follows: professors, $1,000 minimum, $18,500 maximum; associate professors, minimum, $8,500, maximum, $10,500; assistant professors, minimum, $6,500, maximum, $8,250; instructors, minimum, $5,500, maximum, $6,400.

Assistants in instruction and research who are on regular half-time appointment will, beginning in 1969-70, receive $2,700 as a single rate for the academic year, an increase averaging $250 a year. This increase will improve the economic position of more than 225 graduate students preparing for positions in higher education, science and engineering.

The university will also continue its long-standing policy of individual salary adjustments on the basis of merit within the newly-established scales for regular faculty members.

During the past five years, the Air Raid Drill Set

A state-wide Civil Defense-Disaster Control exercise will be held this coming Monday. The "Alert" will be sounded at approximately 11:30 in the morning. At 1:30 the "Take Cover" will sound, calling for all traffic to halt, pedestrians to leave the streets and seek shelter, and for all schools and businesses to send their personnel to shelter areas within their buildings. The "All Clear" will sound 10 minutes later, at about 1:40.

For those who may be confused between the air raid alarm and the fire alarm, it has been pointed out that the air raid alarm can be recognized because it lasts longer. The air raid "Alert" is a three-minute steady blast on the siren, and the "Take Cover" is a three-minute rising-and-falling blast. The fire alarm, which also rises and falls, is a much shorter signal.

average cash salary of full professors at Princeton has risen 49.2 percent, along with an increase in fringe benefits. These improvements have been made possible, Dr. Goheen said, largely by the sustained support of more than 70 percent of Princeton alumni.

DRIVERS FINED

In Township Court. Six drivers, four from out of town, were fined by Magistrate Louis R. Gerber in Township Court Tuesday night. Mrs. Ruth Frieman, 70 Heather Lane, was fined $10 for parking on the traveled portion of the road. She explained that she had run out of gas and pleaded not guilty but was convicted and charged.

Dr. Sidney Ratner, 31 Cleveland Lane, was fined $20 on a careless driving charge. Three residents of Trenton were fined for speeding, two of them having their licenses revoked.

John J. Geraghty of Highland Park, convicted of drunken driving, paid a total of $305 and had his license revoked for two years. He was also charged with using an expired license and driving without registration in his possession.

Charles Biddle, Route 27, Little Rocky Hill, was fined $55 on a disorderly persons charge for possession of lottery slips. He received a 30-day suspended sentence in the County Workhouse.

MINOR THIEFS REPORTED

By Proprietors and Residents. Mrs. William H. Jackson, 117 Mercer Street, reported to police last week that she was sitting in her living room, a man rushed into the room, grabbed her sockbook containing personal papers and $20, and then darted out. Police surrounded and searched the immediate area to no avail. Two days later, children found the empty purse in the backyard of 18 Hibben Road.

Emidio Federico, 105 Linden Lane, notified police that between 3 and 6 p.m. on Friday, someone had broken the rear window of his car in the parking lot on University and Edwards Place and taken his wallet containing $6 to $8.

John H. Meyer, 148 Library Place, told police that a tire and wheel valued at $30 had been stolen from his car parked in —Continued on Page 11 of the Elementary School on Nassau Street. Mr. Meyer said that the theft occurred on Saturday.

Charles Perpetua, proprietor of The Key Shop, 243 Nassau Street, told police that someone had broken into the shop and stolen 13c. The Nelson Glass Co., same address, was also entered, as was Nassau Television, 250 Nassau Street. Only 50c was taken from Nelson's and nothing from Nassau Television. Police believe the thefts are the work of juveniles.

Benjamin Kresker, a supervisor and buyer for the meat department at Davidson's food market, approached an employee, George S. Tawell, 266 Lynnwood Avenue, Trenton, for allegedly stealing a turkey, a canned ham and other items valued at $17. Tawell was charged with larceny and released under $200 bail, pending a near-future arraignment.

Mrs. M. K. Nunziato of Kingston, notified police that a red leather wallet containing $3.94 and personal papers had been stolen from her office at 210 Fine Hall on the University campus.

WHAT'S ON THE AGENDA?

For Borough Council. The Borough Council will consider a number of traffic safety and parking measures at its regular meeting at 8 on Tuesday at Borough Hall. Introduction of further amendments to the ordinance on traffic and parking reflecting recommendations of the Borough Safety Committee and the engineering staff will be discussed.

Amendments to the parking meter ordinance will be introduced. These will affect certain meter operations near the Nassau Street School, parking on William Street and changes in the meters at the University Place lot to provide half the meters for all-day parking and the other half for two-hour parking.

In addition, the Council will review and take action on recommendations of the Public Safety Committee concerning police operations (see below.) At the agenda meeting Monday night, the Mayor and Council will review business items including budgets, library, liquor licenses, need for reclassification of ordinances, points to be made, progress on housing and urban renewal, and the Borough revenue picture for the coming year.

POLICE TAKE EXAMS

To Determine Promotion. Results will be announced within the next week on the written and oral examinations taken by seven Borough policemen to determine which will be given promotions available within the department.

The written tests were given first and on the basis of them the seven men were chosen for oral. Donald McNamara of the New York Institute of Criminology administered the 30-minute oral examinations.

Those who qualified are Peter J. McCrohan and Robert J. Anderson, sergeants, and J. Danforth Hagadorn, Francis J. Maguire, Theodore H. Lewis, James M. Kopliner and Michael Carnevale, patrolmen.

For Resisting Warrant. Henry Owens Jr., 14 Quarry Street, objected to police issuing a warrant for him Thanksgiving night at Allen's Green Tavern, 150 Witherspoon Street. He broke away from the police, who took up the chase.

After firing warning shots in the air, the police finally apprehended Owens and charge him with obstructing the execution of legal process and assaulting officers. He was arraigned before Magistrate Theodore T. Tamm who remanded him to Mercer County Jail to await action by the grand jury.

Mr. Johnson is married and has two sons, who attend Littlebrook School.

PO WINDOWS OPEN LONGER

Urges Early X-mas Mailings. Starting Monday the service windows of the Princeton Post Office will be open from 8 to 6 to accommodate the heavy influx of Christmas packages and cards. Free labels which read, "All For Out Of Town Delivery" and "All For Local Delivery" are available at the Post Office.

Postmaster Charles F. Murray urges all area residents to get their out-of-state packages to the Post Office within the next few days; to mail all their Christmas gifts for nearby delivery by December 10 and their Christmas cards to nearby points at least a week before Christmas. Noon hour and late afternoon lines can be avoided by mailing packages either before 10 a.m. or between 1:30 and 3:30. Commenting on the response to the "Mail Early for Christmas" campaign, Postmaster Murray said that "the great deal depends on the cooperation we receive if we are to reach our goal of having every package and card delivered before Christmas eve."

TEA WILL BE SERVED

At B'Nai B'rith. Mrs. Simon A. Larch, 139 Sycamore Road, will be hostess at the membership tea to be given by B'Nai B'rith Women of Princeton Tuesday at 8:30 p.m.

Mrs. Frank Lewin, president of the chapter, will discuss the aims and program of the organization.

HEADS BOARD: Leonard C. Johnson, 41 Overbrook Drive, has been elected chairman of the Township Zoning Board of Adjustment, succeeding Samuel Frothingham.

zation. Mrs. Harold Borkan and Mrs. Benedict Kingdon will serve as co-hostesses with Mrs. Larch.

WILL COLLECT BUNDLES

Legion Paper Drive Set. The regular monthly paper drive held by Princeton Post No. 76, American Legion, will be held Sunday from 1 p.m. Marino Ferrara is chairman. Householders are asked to tie bundles securely to keep paper from blowing into the streets.

Mercer County Legion officers will come to Post 76 next Wednesday at 8 p.m. for their regular visit. They will present a series of reports to members of the Post.

ADMISSION: ONE GIFT

Faculty Wives' Party. The admission price to the Christmas party sponsored by the Junior Faculty Wives will be one gift for a Trenton State Hospital patient. The party will be held next Wednesday at 8:15 p.m. at the home of Mrs. John Thomas, Plainsboro. The gifts will be wrapped and decorated at the party.

Mrs. George Thomas, the group's advisor, will read Christmas stories. Other activities will be carol singing and corsage making. Mrs. Glen Schrank is in charge of refreshments, with Mrs. Enoch Durt'a serving as chairman of decorations. Those eligible to attend who have not received an invitation should call Mrs. W. Paul Jones at WA 1-6674.

At Mall, there are Windsor and Newton dolls from England in sets, and a selection of pre-stretched canvases to put them on.

Nassau Paint has a kit consisting of pre-cut pieces of jamna wool. You sew them together to make a mosaic, furry side in, skin side out. There's no other sole or facing—just the skin itself. Comes in all sizes for $3.98.

Kick-Off. For the boy who likes sports, Frank's Sport Shop in the Shopping Center, and Tiger Auto on Witherspoon have fine collections of hockey skates, guns, medals and brushes.

Tiger is enlarging its sporting goods department. Incidentally, boys will be gone from this store after Christmas to make room for sports. The reductions in toy prices are very good indeed! A new line of Roller Derby provides good skates at modest prices. There is, in this line, a single-runner shoe skate about six inches long for somebody you might think would need double runners. Ice rollers are $3.95 and on up.

Flat or hallow-ground runners can be sharpened with a new skate-sharpener for $1.49, adjustable to any size. It's a carbide runner cylinder with a guide which fits over the runner. Stuff's Nonsense has learners' skates with a retractable brace, like a bicycle.

Frank's has skates for children and adults, figure skaters and hockey players. Shin guards, hockey sticks, gloves and headgear in this store are cut to the size of the smallest goalie right on up.

Hull's shoe store has figure and hockey skates too, starting at $9.95 for children. Men's hockey skates at Frank's are $24.50 (others less expensive, of course) with leather lining, foam rubber tongue, extra braces.

Dart boards from England to turn your house into a pug, range up to $20 at Tiger. Some are pressed fiber, some are wood, others are — whoops, grandfathers, couldn't you wait 'till we got it hung? — others are cork.

Heavy plastic bowling balls and pins at Tiger start at $3.95 and go to $10. Put water in the pins to weigh them down. Plugs guaranteed tight.

For other sports, indoor and out, Tiger has Kuger pistols which fire blanks, rifles and shotguns which do not. You can have a shotgun from $30.50 on up as high as your sights will go. Frank's has guns too, specializing in the Stevens shotgun at $69.95 and a nylon Remington 22 at $19.95, which is only four pounds, won't warp or peel and needs no oiling. Comes in two colors: Mohawk brown or Seneca green.

Getchel

The prize gun in our arsenal this Christmas is the one we picked up at Urken's for $1.98. We plan to buy dozens more for the men on our list.

This is a sneaky little gun about the size of a belt buckle. You fasten it to your buckle, button your jacket over it and nobody knows it's there. Then when you're surrounded by the cavalry hasn't gotten through yet, you just stick it out your stomach as fast and as far as you can and the gun goes off — bang! Just like that.

You have, of course, been sufficiently cool-headed to load the shell and Greenie stick-n-caps.

You have to have a special license to own the gun, but if you can take one to a cocktail party.

Your Turn. While we're playing games, let's look at Coney Island Remo's penny machine at Urken's and Thorne's which you play by putting pennies in a slot, oddly enough. Both Thorne's and Urken's are well-stocked with games, although we noticed a slight decline from other years in the number of TV game like "$64,000 Question" and the like. Stuff's Nonsense and Pastimes have card games from Vienna featuring flowers, animals and fish. You play like rummy, with the cards in place of dice. Both French and English names for flower, animal and fish. There is also a "Tops and Tails" game in which young players match up Kimono tops with Scotch kilts and so on.

Boxes and boxes of puzzles and skill games and Oriental curiosities are at Kung Ping on Witherspoon Street. Buy a wooden apple for 75 cents, take off its top and play the spin-wheel game inside. You've got to play.

Also in Kung Ping's collection: . . . Chinese puzzle boxes to puzzle out . . . an old Chinese man with seals, enclosures inside, like a Russian Easter egg-witnness: "You think this is the last little one," says the Mr. Chang's little girl, explaining, "but here is this very top wooden pea." . . . Eules of hantoo . . . red and blue casanets from Hong Kong, of all places . . . a wooden jointed snake to scare grandmothers . . . a black lacquer sword for 85 cents . . . and a carved ivory chess set for $39.50.

Misa Boo At Home. Black velvet tendor pants for little girls are enough to take the sting out of clothes as Christmas presents. Allen's has them with artist's smock top in white with cross-stitched border. Bellows has them with black suspenders, lavishly embroidered with colored floss. (Little brother has matching suspender pants in black velvet.) The Little Clothes Line has red corduroy faquered slacks with white amock top in the 3-6 size.

Bellows' red cotton leopard with smock top is really palms but could double for hantessing. Comes in toddler through 12 sizes. Clothes Line has a 3-4x white painter's smock with yellow and brush painted on it and a Christmas pinafore, size 1-3, in white organdy with appropriate ruffles and red embroidery, and enough sheer charm to melt the whole family.

Allen's produces the ultimate in small-size party clothes: a pair of red velvet diaper pants with matching amock-style jumper. Big sister gets a red velvet jumper, too. This one with a white blouse and lace-edged cap sleeves. An olive velvet party dress has deep white tatting for a trim.

Bellows cuts red velvet into a size 3 jumper, straight and full from a high yoke. Under it, a white blouse with open lace collar that lies against the red velvet. Matching pants for small boys.

Powder blue velvet with embroidered floral applique sends a three-eyed 12-year-old off to a party from Bellows. There's a red one, too. For sub-teens, Bellows has olive velvet with pale satin cummerbund, a silk organza gingham with crushed belt and a white wool sheath. If you please, the red taffeta with round mink collar might well be the most favorite Christmas present.

How About Me? Oh, yes, boys for pretty well, too, and you'll want at least one vest: Bellows' red cotton suede, or Allen's red corduroy or plaid. Both stores have them from diaper size on up.

Allen's has a big boys' charcoal slip-over sweater with V-neck, turnover collar and unobtrusive border of lighter grey and white. Bellows likes the bright red of a villa sport shirt. But choose a tartan if you prefer, sizes 3-12.

Hull's offers cowboy boots for Christmas, with good sensible toes and a flat heel. Authentic, otherwise. They are 12-13 in the size range and $5.98 to $6.95 on the price tag. For wear after a day in the saddle, there are shearing slippers, sizes 10 to 3 for $3.50. Cowgirls will wear those with beaded trim and fur, $2.95. A little corduroy boot at Nassau Boating has a bell on its toe and a label that says "washable." It's for very small cowhands, at —Continued on Page 20

$2.98 Made to pop right back when you take it from the washing machine. The Little Clothes Line has a French-made shoe for infants, lined with fleece and treated to laces up the back.

To Go With. Buy a muff for Miss Muffet. At Allen's and Bellows, mostly white "ermine." Stuff 'n Nonsense has shiny black plastic cases for ballet slippers and tuts. Same case, lunch-box style, has thermos in the ballet-alipper compartment.

Child puffs and matching towel sets at Little Clothesline have trampoline-like appliques of Goldilocks, Raggedy Ann and other friends. A hand-bag of red felt is Santa's head, full white beard and all. Matching apron has his head for a pocket.

At Thorne's, the budding beauty is had by Tussy, who boxes hand lotion, toilet water and three cakes of soap into a lovely young woman's package. "Building Beauty" has all these separately, plus perfumed bubble bath, pomade lipstick and toilet water in an atomizer. Nassau Pharmacy likes those fancy soaps: Kittens, Frankfurters, footballs, and so on.

To wear on a winter coat, Clayton's provides four-inch furry faces, cat or poodle.

Block Builders. Stuff and Urken have some good raw material for children with constructive ideas. Urken's Girder and Panel Building Set provides the girders, uprights, cross pieces and window panes to make all kinds of buildings that look like Mies van der Rohe's.

Stuff suggests that you build bridge and trestle and enhance your construction with some just plain building blocks, jigsawed into a bright wooden cart for $12.50. (Also $45 and $75 sets). These plain wooden blocks can also be bought in open stack if you want unusually shaped pieces like the wishbone that looks like the entrance to a church if you stand it upright.

Spanish toy-makers send along tiny collections of buildings in little bags and we suggest them as Christmas decorations. You can buy farm animals, a railroad station, stable, school, garage and some furniture, all match-stick size.

Another European idea is the vehicle made of smooth bright wood. Take it apart and make something else, take that apart and make a third piece. You start with truck, but from the pieces you can make a fire engine, a derrick, a windmill or something magnificently abstract.

With Bolts and Nuts, you get perforated wooden strips in three sizes. The holes are big enough for a half-inch-thick bolt to go through and the bolt is big enough for a good sturdy screw. Ages three to eight will appreciate.

YOU'LL LOVE IT ON THE BOTTOM OF THE POOL: Friday night "Dance and Dream" party for teen-agers at the "Y" produced lots of dancing but not much in the way of drowning in spite of the activity going on in this picture. About 50 young people turned out for the swimming half of the evening and about 65 for the dance that followed in the "Y" all-purpose room, decorated appropriately with fish and a pink whale. The new Teen Club will meet again December 11 and on alternate Fridays thereafter. (Staff Photo)

Any age will appreciate Stuff's English puzzle collection which includes some thousand-pieces and some with only 17. We like the battleship best.

Here I Go! Mobile members of the clan will want something where; a tricycle from Tiger or a 28-inch bike from Tiger or Van Zandt.

We like the painted wooden train at Bellows with locomotive, two gondolas and caboose. It's five feet long, 10-12 inches tall and as brightly painted as the Little Engine That Could. Scandia makes it, and also makes three fine wooden pull carts, white with pastel nursery figures, or natural with red and blue designs. These are good two-foot-long cars, sturdy enough to carry a pay load of toys and the passenger, too.

Tiger has a fire engine with two speeds, a horn and a blinker light. Deadly pays $35.98 but think of the reduction in fire insurance premiums.

"Old Pal" is a metal hobby horse over at Pastimes with square feet, each a different color, a flat head and a rolling, roving eye. There is also a chain-drive police radar patrol car in this shop and it probably has a roving eye, too. At least, there's a spotlight on the front.

Allen's has a stable of rocking horses from collar right up to snoring stallions. Other rolling stock in this store includes a Boston rocker, Hitchcock chair, captain's chair (for the captains of your small boats) and some fine children's roll-top desks.

Let's All Play. Besides the hobby and craft supplies we mentioned several volumes ago, there are other adult toys that occupy as much of a place in Christmas shopping as the shoot-'em-dead-electronic - bow - and - arrow set.

Frank's Sport Shop has hunting needs like decoys for $1.95 and binoculars by Tasco for $29.95 to $45. The binoculars are light weight and packaged attractively in a leather case.

CONQUERS PARALYSIS

To Become Jewelry Designer. Eight years ago, Renie Updike, crippled with polio, was so paralyzed that the only part of her body she could move was her right thumb. Today, despite the fact that she can only use one arm in her work, she has learned to paint ceramic jewelry so successfully that she is now running a thriving business from her home on Province Line Road.

An attractive young girl with a warm smile, Renie is obviously enthusiastic about her project. "People often comment on the fineness of the work," she said "but I really enjoy it. I'm so used to it now that I'm sort of floored when I get faced with something big."

The same enthusiasm has helped her to solve the special problems she had in embarking on her career. For instance, she has designed a unique work table for herself, with a large "Lazy Susan" for her paints and a lamp which can be easily adjusted with one hand. "My goal is to arrange everything as I can do it myself," she explained. "I want to be just as self-reliant as I possibly can."

She has also evolved a technique for handling the ceramics as she paints them. "It seems simple, but I had to experiment quite a bit before I figured it out," she said. "You see, the backs of the little pieces of ceramic (tile, although slightly moist) will slip on a smooth surface. I found out, however, that they adhere nicely to a piece of paper toweling. So now I just stick a paper towel underneath, and the ceramic stays firmly in place while I paint it."

Wide Range of Products. Renie now produces a wide range of ceramic products, from bracelets, rings and earrings to sweater clips, pill boxes, cigarette cases and even a tiny purse-size silent butler. All feature her own designs.

YOUNG DESIGNER: Renie Updike displays some of the ceramic pieces she has created. Included are various types of jewelry, such as bracelets, pins and earrings, as well as a mustard jar, cigarette case and piggy bank.

Including tiny flowers, polka dots, holly berries, gold leaves, geometric patterns and various animals.

One of her favorites is a bracelet in a Chinese design, with the Chinese symbols for happiness, wealth and long life on alternate panels, interspersed with Chinese-style drawings. She also makes a few larger pieces, such as hand-decorated mustard jars and cups and saucers. The prices vary from $2.45 for a pair of earrings to $5.50 for a bracelet.

Each design is so beautifully executed that one is sure Renie must have had a natural artistic bent. As it happens, however, she has no interest in art as a child. In fact, she was working as a dental assistant at the time of her polio attack at the age of 19. It was not until four years after the attack, in 1955, that she took up art, and in the beginning it was just as a form of therapy.

"A friend of mine was taking an art course at the Princeton YM-YWCA from Mrs. Constance Bonotto," Renie explained. "It was his idea that Mrs. Bonotto come and teach me art here at home, just for fun."

Learned Various Media. Mrs. Bonotto first taught Renie how to paint in water colors, pastels and oils. Then one day she brought some ceramic tiles and Renie found that this was the art form she liked best, partly because of natural inclination, partly because the small pieces were easy for her to handle.

By the following Christmas Renie had made enough jewelry to give some to her friends as presents. The friends, impressed by her work, showed the pieces to other friends, and pretty soon Renie found herself in business, with so many orders coming in that she had to work hard to keep up with them.

Another outlet was provided in 1957 through Joseph B. Stevens, Jr., a friend and neighbor of the Updike family, who arranged for the jewelry to be sold at race-track concessions in New Jersey and Florida. Today the former hobby has grown into a business grossing about $1,500 a year.

"Pretty soon I'll be able to buy a small kiln for my room and not have to send things out to be fired," Renie said. "I'm looking forward to that."

Rushed at Christmas. The past two Christmases Renie has found herself working right up to the last minute, filling orders, but this year she is taking no chances. She has kept busy all through the year making up enough pieces so that she will be able to fill orders from stock on hand and not have to work too much over the holidays.

"After all, I want to have time for a few other things besides jewelry-making," she said, with a smile. These other things, incidentally, include watching the birds at the feeder outside her window, a daily walk around her ranch-type house—she can walk with one crutch—plus one or two swimming sessions each week at the YM-YWCA pool. "That's something else I couldn't do as a child," she explained, "and now I just love it. I think I'm the world's best floater, too!"

Nevertheless, it's a sure bet that many lucky people in the Princeton area are going to find a small box under the tree this year with the label, "Specially for You—by Renie." And anyone interested in acquiring some of that "stock on hand," before it's all gone, can make arrangements to see it by calling Renie at WA-1-6920.

BWF PLANS CARD PARTY

This Thursday Evening, The Business and Professional Women's Club of Princeton will hold a card party this Thursday evening. The party is scheduled for 8 p.m. at the Educational Testing Service building on Rosedale Road. Tickets may be obtained from club members or at Yeoman's Liquor Store, 108 Nassau Street.

TO OPEN SWIM PROGRAM

For Witherspoon Students. A program under which 6th, 7th and 8th grade students of Witherspoon School will receive swimming instruction at the YMCA pool has been approved by the Borough Board of Education.

The swimming instruction, which will be considered part of the physical education program, will consist of eight lessons beginning December 10 and ending February 11. It will cost $360 for rental of the pool, plus a possible $75 for supervisory help in addition to the regular physical education instructors.

PHS Orchestra Honored. The Princeton High School orchestra has been chosen to play at the annual convention of the National Association of Music Teachers, to be held in Atlantic City in March. The orchestra and the PHS choir are the only two New Jersey groups, outside of the all-state ones, chosen to perform at the convention. The honor is particularly significant in that the association includes colleges as well as secondary schools.

It's New To Us

body has a daisy drooping from the mouth.

Stuff produces some new small animals and you'll find them at Clayton's. Stuff and Allen's. There's a rough-turred squirrel with tail over his back, a llama, a green ring-tailed monkey and Mr. and Mrs. Lion. A walrus gets into the family, too.

Stuff's sleeping fox has a zipper back into which you put in your pajamas. A cat provides the same accommodations but, cat-like, he's wide awake.

Thorne's has the Knit-Wits, a collection of beat knit yarn-well, people, probably. There's Jolly Roger the pirate, a monkey, a clown and a wonderful Ball and Chain with two opalescent tears. These are 98 cents and $1.98, about four inches high.

A woolly lamb at $3.98 has a harness and a girl's face of all things. A 16-inch-tall owl has nobody's face but his own. If you buy the Santa piggy bank, you can stuff him yourself.

"Viel Freude fur Kleine und Grosse" says the legend on a German stuffed fox at Little Clothes Line. He's more ready-for-action than the snooty one at Stuff.

Spanish puppets enliven the scene at Stuff and Pastimes. These are good big felt dolls, for a larger child or an adult to manipulate. One is a witch with white leonine hair, one is a duck and one a very glamorous and non-Hispanic angel. There is a roguish king and a devil, too.

Bellows has some soft plush puppets for toddlers to play with or take a nap with. Reddy Fox is bright red. Finky Pig is rose. Bully Bull is good and black with a ring in the end of his nose, and Lovey Lamb in white.

Stuff's original teddy bear is at Clayton's for $15.95. Vied's Chocolate Shop has a 14-inch long blue poodle with a zipper down his back. Carry him to school some day with lunch money inside. Lots of little stuffed animals in this shop, including a highly aggressive bulldog. Allen's has thousands of little Stuff animals, row on row on row.

Some stuffed boys make music, including a drummer teddy bear and monkey at Stuff. Clayton's favorite musical animals are the ones that cost only $3.95.

If you'd rather make music than listen to it spin, you may have an electric Emmee organ from Pastimes for $71.98, with bench and music. Smaller table model is $47.98, but each model has three activities. Thorne's says, "Why not a harmonica for a dollar?"

tens to the crib a $3.95 musical angel, clown or jinky playing Brahms' Lullaby. Thorne's has the entire Child Guidance line with its elusive "Kittie in the Keys"—a barrel-within-a-barrel set, a turn-a-gear which looks like a madman's dial telephone, and something called "Toothpaste Tube" which comes apart to reveal a smaller one inside. "Pipe Dreams" is just for fun—build as far as imagination will go.

Allen's also has Child Guidance. The Right-Time line, in this shop, features a cradle bounce and a playpen whirler just to keep things from getting dull.

At Urken's, there is a set of snap trains which couple with a snap instead of a hook. The two-inch wooden cars have complementary blocks.

The circus and rodeo at Pastimes have beautifully carved wooden animals, 35 inches high. There are ponies, cowboys with leather legs, a calf ready to be roped, a ring-master for the circus, a gay tent, bleachers for the rodeo and even a cactus.

(If I were you, grandmother, I'd get the misale-firing rocket AND the circus, but do be careful: your shopping bag is due for a massive case of fall-out.)

COMPUTER FIRM OPENS

Programs Data For Machines, Applied Data Research, a firm which programs data for analysis by electronic digital computers, has established offices at 759 State Road. The firm is headed by Ellwood Kauffman of Kendall Park.

Senior programmers include Stephen E. Wright, vice-president; Bernard Riskin, Kendall Park; Martin A. Goetz, Mount Pleasant; and Stanley Wolfson, Nassau Estates. Mr. Wright, chief programming trouble-shooter for UNIVAC for eight years, supervised UNIVAC installation and programming for CBS-TV's election predictions in 1952, '54, '56 and '58.

The field of electronic computers is in the process of explosive growth, with new computers appearing on the market each month. For each one, dozens of man-years are required to provide standard "programs" which direct the computer to perform particular operations.

Applied Data Research help the manufacturers to overcome the manpower shortage created by the rapid expansion of this specialized field. ADR can also write programs which handle a particular commercial or scientific application.

A current project programmed by ADR is a study of air traffic flow over the New York metropolitan area. The firm's specialists are also designing a program which enable a Canadian insurance company to keep track of policies, compute premiums, dividends, loan interest and surrender values and print premium notices.

WANDERLUST REVEALED: Austria is the country Leslie Joy chooses as the one he would most like to visit while Renee Duval picks "all of Europe." For the lands that other Princetoniens would most like to visit, see below. (Staff Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: If you could visit any country in the world, which one would you most like to go to and why?

Location: Around town.

Leslie Joy, Main Street, Kingston, automobile salesman: I think I'd like to go to Austria and Vienna. They know how to live over there. It's a country of music and gaiety, of skiing and mountain climbing.

Mrs. Paul Condon, 225-A Marshall Street, housewife: India, because it's so different from any country I've seen. Because when you think of Austria at this time because it is balancing China in the struggle over Communism. It's culture is ancient and fascinating and there are so many facets to its people.

Charles Whitmore, 219-B Eisenhower Street, graduate student in civil engineering: I'd like to go to Germany. My mother's family was from Germany and my grandfather spent his youth there. I'd like to go not only for family reasons but because a number of people have reported favorably about the country.

Mrs. Renee Duval, Skillman, secretary: Not just one country, but all Europe. I'd like to get to know the people over there. I'd particularly like to see Paris and the Vatican.

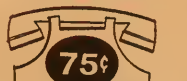

Edward D. Bloor, Jr., Grandview Avenue, Lawrenceville, tax examiner: Austria. Because when you think of Austria you think of music and Beethoven, Strass and Mozart. Many of the actual buildings where these famous composers lived are still standing. It is a country of much charm.

Mrs. R. K. Toner, 60 McCosh Circle, housewife: I've always wanted very much to see England. My father's people all came from there. All the pictures I've seen of it are so beautiful, particularly the English gardens and countryside.

Leighton Collins, Carter Road, editor of Air Facts magazine, England, because I haven't been there. I've been to France and Italy.

Miss Mary Lou McClure, 108 Stockton Street, Theological student: The Middle East, because it is very much in ferment. I feel that this area should be visited simply because of the sheer number of people who are trying to establish themselves nationally and who are not committed to either of the two major powers. I am very much interested in them.

Report from THE MAYOR

100th Open House. The regular weekly "Tell it to the Mayor!" session is scheduled for Friday evening, December 4, from 7 to 10 p.m. at Borough Hall. This week will mark the 100th such meeting.

The second hundred will begin next Friday, December 11, at the same time and place. No appointment is ever necessary for these informal meetings.

The fact that more than 2,000 people have dropped by to ask questions or to discuss a wide variety of town problems seems to prove that this weekly meeting filled a need in Princeton. The Mayor certainly learned a great deal from the constructive ideas and suggestions that have been offered by so many interested citizens and is especially grateful that illness never forced a cancellation of this high-priority item on the calendar.

100 Reports. This also marks the 100th weekly report of the Mayor to the people of Princeton. The press have been most helpful in carrying this and other reporting of the business of Borough government.

Letting the people know the facts is a year round job. When they have the facts, there is no doubt that their interest is increased and their participation is made more effective in the decision-making process.

Oral Exams. Seven members of the Borough police department are scheduled to participate in oral examinations this Wednesday as part of the new promotion policy adopted by the Council.

Dean Donald MacNamee, who studied the police department last year and whose report formed the basis for many changes in Borough police administration, will participate in the oral examinations. The Dean also prepared the written test held last month.

Best Wishes. Everyone extends to Police Chief Raymond Mondone their wish that he will have a speedy and complete recovery from the illness which finds him hospitalized. The Chief has been doing an effective job of strengthening police administration in Princeton and we all hope to see him at full strength real soon.

Study Session. Last week's meeting of the Planning Board was to have been one of the special study sessions with our consultant planner and members of Borough Council to help shape Princeton's future.

It was nearly midnight, however, when an important special item of business was settled—the request of the Zoning Board for an "advisory" opinion on the University's proposals concerning the development of University Field. The problem was an important one: trying to square away the necessary concern of the Borough government in the traffic flow and activity in a key area of the town with the urgent timetable of the University for a most important project in its development. The proposed engineering quadrangle.

The Planning Board rescheduled its study session for December 1st and is now pouring over the 32 pages of important planning documents which the planner distributed as vital "homework" for the special meeting. The material includes a significant recommendation concerning the area of concern of last week's meeting.

Three Observers. Three interested observers at last week's Planning Board meeting were the Chief of the State Finance Bureau, B. Budd Chavoshian and two of his planners, Al Gershen and Sid Willis. Because Princeton's planning studies are partially financed through an Urban Planning Grant from the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency, Chavoshian and his staff are actually technically responsible for the work of our consultant planner.

100TH 'ANNIVERSARY': Mayor Male will hold his 100th "open house" on Friday while this week's "Report from the Mayor" is his 100th such column.

They are particularly interested in our plan for regular study sessions apart from the "business" agenda. Last week's meeting was hardly a fair test, but they have promised to return for our next session. They are hopeful that Princeton's Planning Board might be willing to undertake such a session on a demonstration basis before the State Federation of Official Planning Boards so that representatives of other Jersey communities might see the benefits of this kind of thoughtful exchange of views between consultant and officials.

DO YOU KNOW THAT...

...is an Ingredient
of Industrial Success in New Jersey?

Trucking and railroad routes from all the country funnel into Port Newark and the Port of Camden. At the same time, sea lanes from all the world serve these fine New Jersey ports.

Our great state, the Crossroads of the East, has the finest transportation facilities in the world. Once goods arrive at Port Newark or the Delaware Valley, there are unrivaled facilities to transport them to major markets . . . to New York, to Philadelphia . . . as well as all the other markets in the United States, including the wealthy markets in our own state.

These ports serve industry better today with their modern, deep-water dock facilities, as well as their accessibility towards avenues to ship goods from dockside.

HOCKEY THIS WEEKEND

Two Games Scheduled. With firm thoughts of improving its status in eastern hockey circles and, in particular, in Ivy League standings, Princeton will open the 1954-55 season Friday night at 8 in Baker Rink. Colgate will provide the opposition, while Saturday at 2, the annual game with the alumni will be held.

The latter contest will serve as an occasion at which Dick Vaughan will be honored. He completed a quarter-century as hockey coach last winter, and has been succeeded by Norm Wood, who was here in an assistant's capacity last season. Wood is a Harvard alumnus, captaining the Crimson's championship outfit of 1954.

Having lost only two players by graduation and one through injury from last year's squad, the Tigers have reason to believe that greater experience and depth will bring improvement over their 6-16 mark of a year ago. Captain Jim Brangan is expected to bring the season with a knee injury. Forward Johnny Hill is the only other member of the Class of 1955 on last year's team.

Loss of Cheston and Morris will make development of a good defense the Tigers' no. 1 problem for the coming season. Fortunately, Don Campbell, a junior who missed most of last year's action with mononucleosis, is ready to fill one of the starting assignments. He'll be paired with Paul Burgert, last year's freshman captain.

John Hopkins and Page Chapman, both juniors, and senior Neil Ullman are others slated for defense duty. Barry Van Gerbig, chief net-tender last winter, is on hand again while Mickey Michel and Dick Torrey are in a three-way race with him for the goalie's job.

If the Tigers' first line stays intact throughout the rugged season, belief is that a high-scoring attack will frequently feature their play in the weeks ahead. Captain John McBride rewrote the record book last winter when he scored 27 goals and was credited with 44 points, an outstanding performance in view of the high calibre of the opposition Princeton faced.

Pete Cook, oldest son of the hockey-playing Cook family of Kingston, will center the first line again, with Tony Fell as the third member. This will be their fourth year on the ice together.

Hugh Scott, the durable tail-back, will skate on the second line with classmates Lance Odden, a Princeton resident, and Bill Miller. All are juniors.

Chris Gordon and Jim Wadsworth, varsity reserves a year ago, and sophomore Doug Davis, a product of Canada, will form another trio this winter. If the Tigers can improve their defensive play, indications are that the attack will produce sufficient goals to boost Princeton above the .500 mark for the first time in four years.

The schedule: Dec. 4, Colgate; 5, Alumni; 11, Providence; 12, Army; 18, Boston College; away; 19, Boston University; away; Jan. 1, Clarkson; away; 2, St. Lawrence; away; 6, St. Nicholas H.C.; 9, Brown; 11, Middlebury; 16, Dartmouth; 30, Northeastern; Feb. 1, Providence; away; 2, Brown; away; 6, Cornell; away; 9, American International; 13, R. P. 1; 20, Harvard; 24, Yale; 27, Cornell; March 4, Harvard; away; 5, Dartmouth; away.

TOUGH SCHEDULE AHEAD
For Tiger Quietest. Having opened its season Wednesday night against Villanova, the Princeton basketball team will face three more highly-rated opponents in the next ten days. Lafayette, generally one of the better eastern quintets, will be in Dillon Gym Saturday night at 8.

A pair of road games are on tap next week as Cappy Cappon seeks to bring his inexperienced aggregations to the point where it can make a first-division bid in the Ivy League. The Tigers will travel to Philadelphia Wednesday to face Temple and to Annapolis Saturday to play Navy. Any victory along the line will be in the nature of an upset, since the Orange and Black will be facing three teams generally a good deal stronger than those they will meet later on in Ivy action.

Captain Jim Brangan is the player figured to keep Princeton on an even keel this season, as the other members of the squad gain in experience. Larry Brennan, at 6-7 one of the tallest men Princeton has had in the past decade, is one player whose development will hold a key to the future.

So is 6-1 Pete Campbell, a sophomore with a fine eye for outside shooting. If the accuracy which enabled him to average better than 25 points a game last year keeps him in high double figures this season, he'll help the Tigers go further than currently seems likely after the loss of four of last year's starters through graduation.

MORE TROUBLE AHEAD?

Pink Cages Lack Experience. Last year, the Princeton High School basketball team won four games and lost 15. With only one returning letterman, James Barbour (still recuperating from football injuries), Coach Tony Borzok has more to dig deep in his barrel of miracles if he is to shape a quiet team that will top the .500 mark.

Borzok is starting his sixth year as 1918's basket ball coach. Until last season's loss, he had never coached a losing team at Princeton High. And now he thought the prospects were for a winning season this year he said, "let's win half, we'll be lucky." The season opens Tuesday afternoon against Neptune.

A marked lack of experience

Isn't going to make anything easier for Borzok. Only 18 players are vying for starting positions on the varsity. Aside from Barbour, none has seen action for the Blue and White.

Another obstacle in the way of a winning season is a limited number of players over six feet. Borzok has the service of only a number of six-footers who, unfortunately, are out for the first time and their abilities on the court remain a question mark. Then, too, a rugged, 18-game schedule, including three prep schools and the "jungs" from Trenton (so labeled by Borzok) must share the blame for this year's pessimistic outlook.

WE CONGRATULATE

GORDON BATCHELLER
 Princeton Tackle

Two years ago, even the closest follower of Princeton football would have had a hard time identifying Gordon Batcheller, and with perfectly good reason: He was an "unusual lineman" on an unused segment of the gridiron picture at Old Nassau—a guard on the junior varsity eleven.

This week, Batcheller's name was in the news on a basis of solid achievement. Converted to a tackle a year ago, he had shown such rapid improvement that he earned all-city honors at the position. On Monday at the Tigers' annual football dinner, Batcheller won the Caldwell Memorial Trophy—emblematic of outstanding improvement and continued effort over a three-year period.

Thus once again, a player who learned his football the hard way—long hours spent on the oft-battered junior varsity—has worked his way to the top. His elevation to the varsity at the start of his junior year and conversion to tackle was marked by receipt of a letter at the end of the 1958 season.

This fall, Coach Dick Colman said before the half-way point in the campaign had been reached, "Batcheller is without doubt the most improved tackle in the Ivy League." The 21-year old senior proved it frequently—most notably on the day the Tigers lost to Yale with his nomination in the press box as the "outstanding lineman of the day—an honor rarely achieved in defeat."

Further indication of Batcheller's season-long ability was the fact that he kept the highly-promising John Craig on the Tigers' reserve eleven. An Oklahoma transfer, Craig invariably impressed with his know-how and finished the campaign as the top player seeing action on Princeton's alternate line.

The son of a Navy captain, a resident of Hingham, Mass., Batcheller went to Portsmouth (N.H.) high school to prepare for college. His Princeton career in a football uniform is a pleasant reminder of the axiom that hard work and a full share of desire brings its own rewards.

The programs will be re-broadcast on WRCA radio, Sundays from midnight to 12:30 a.m.

POST OFFICE EXAMS SET

For Middlesex, Monmouth Applications are now being accepted for examinations for substitute clerk and substitute carrier for 28 post offices in Middlesex County and 37 post offices in Monmouth County. These include all first-class and second-class post offices in these counties. Although not every office has an immediate vacancy, the list of those passing the examination will be used as vacancies occur, with preference given to those residing in the same community.

No experience is required, but applicants must take a written test either at Trenton or New Brunswick. Substitute carriers and clerks receive $2 an hour to start, plus additional benefits. Applications and announcements describing the positions may be obtained from any first or second class post office in the two counties.

CANDY SALE PLANNED

For YMCA World Service. More than 300 boys from Princeton YMCA will participate during the next two weeks in a sale of chocolate mints to raise funds for the YMCA World Service program. The sale, which began Tuesday, will continue through December 18. The candy, in boxes describing the World Service program, will be sold door-to-door and in booths in the business areas. Goal of the campaign is $500.

The money will go toward the building and development of a YMCA summer camp in Europe for refugee boys and girls. The camp, to be located in Austria, will be called Camping Center Sibley after the late Harper Sibley, former president of the United States Committee for Refugee Work.

Members of 18 YMCA youth through Junior High School clubs, will participate in the joint service project. It has the twofold purpose of supporting the YMCA in foreign lands and of giving youngsters a tangible method of serving others and promoting brotherhood.

FRENCH LECTURE SET

For Next Wednesday. Second in a series of lectures on the general theme, "Three Literary Moments," will be given next Wednesday at 5 p.m. in McCosh Hall. The lectures, which are given in French, are being sponsored by the Department of Romance Languages and Literatures of Princeton University.

CARILLON RECITAL SET

For December 13. A half-hour recital on the new "Americana" Carillon of Westminster Choir College will be presented Sunday, December 13, at 3 o'clock. The carillon bells, considered one of the finest in the New Jersey area, were given to the college recently by Schulmerich Carillons, Inc., of Sellersville, Pa.

The recital will be given by Robert J. Carwithen, a teaching fellow at the Choir College, who was a carillonneur at the Brussels World's Fair in 1958. The public is invited to attend the recital, but since carillon bells are best heard out of doors, it is suggested that the audience park in the immediate vicinity of the college. There will be no provisions for an indoor audience.

In addition to the Sunday recital, the carillon bells will also be played each evening from 5:30 to 6 from December 14 through 17.

Immediately after the Sunday recital there will be an unveiling of the bronze sculpture, "The Song of Mary," by Mrs. Stella Elkins Tyler. Previously located in the administration building, the sculpture is being permanently placed outdoors just east of East Hall. A tea for members of the Board of Trustees and other invited guests will be held at the President's home after the unveiling.

ADMINISTRATIVE ASSISTANT

Some secretarial duties although shearing not absolutely essential.
Previous experience in secretarial position of fairly high level of responsibility would help to relieve much of the daily stress and strain of busy executive's office. Strong interest in financial and/or accounting areas of management would be most helpful.

FINDERS, FILERS, AND REMEMBERERS

(Alias SECRETARIES)

A couple of our most talented and creative men have a complete lack of respect for their own files. They need secretaries who can type beautifully, greet the world with a big smile every day, and who can find that important research report on immediate demand, refile it properly, and remember 6 months later just where they filed it.

PROGRAM ASSISTANTS

Some high school seniors are wondering right now if, when, and where they can take their College Board Extraneous Examinations. We have huge maps with hundreds of pins marking the exact location of these testing centers. But we need women who can type their own correspondence to students and teachers outlining all the necessary information.

If you like the sound of foreign names and places, this is a job that will intrigue you.

If one of the above positions seem right for your individual interests and qualifications, perhaps you would find some other type of work within our organization more suitable. So please stop in or call for an appointment at
